

MACIES 2017

Measurement and Control Information Exchange System

MACIES is a meeting of market experts within the Process Instrumentation & Control Sector, in an informal atmosphere, to review aggregated data from participating companies and estimate the size of the UK market for many instrumentation and control product categories for the past financial year.

It is an established event, in its 15th consecutive year, where both historical and current data is provided with charts for analysis.

The data collection covers Instrumentation and DCS, primarily for the process industries, i.e. Pressure and Level Instruments, Flowmeters, Recorders, Analytical Instruments, Smart Positioners, Field Devices and Control Systems, Sensors and Transducers, Infrared Temperature Measurement, and Services

It represents a cost-effective method of collecting valuable and realistic market data with good networking opportunities over a buffet lunch which this year will be held on 14th March 2018 at Worcester Rugby Club, hosted by Siemens.

To find out more, join us for a web meeting where we will explain the classifications and rules that are in place to protect your data.
