The Gambica annual laboratory technology suppliers conference has been established for over a decade and continues to grow with over 50 senior executives attending the 2015 conference and dinner.

A superb range of speakers and panel sessions combined with excellent networking opportunities, all in a splendid location, make this the one event chairman, CEO's, MD's and directors, from across the industry attend.

All presentations were well made and interesting. The last 2 were a bit of a "road to Damascus experience". Hopefully I can implement what I saw.

The panels were excellent again and really gave people chance to interact, not only with presenters but also with other members - comments from 2015
